Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Laustsen, U.S. Patent 5,437,774.

Laustsen discloses the claimed method and apparatus for the selective removal of at least one biological contaminant, including the claimed contaminants, from a biological compound, including the claimed compounds (see column 6, lines 35-52) comprising directing a first fluid stream having a selected pH to flow along a first selective membrane, directing a second fluid along the first membrane isolated from the first fluid stream thereby, applying at least one voltage potential across each of the fluid streams until the desired purity is obtained to recover the purified compound (see figures 1-9 and column 5, lines 10-55). The reference further discloses the third and fourth fluid streams (see figures 1-5 and columns

8-9). The patent further discloses the same types of membranes (see column 7, lines 10-30).

Therefore, since the Laustsen discloses each and every limitation, the claims are anticipated.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-24 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 43-114 of copending Application No. 09/887,208. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the claims of the prior application when read in light of the specification clearly encompass and render obvious the claims of the instant application.

The prior application does not disclose that the separation occurs in a membrane based separation means, such as a membrane filtration. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the claims of the copending application, because the presently claimed invention recites the separation of the same types of materials from the same types of biological liquids and thus the same types of membranes must be used.

Claims 1-24 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-44 of copending Application No. 10/037004. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the claims of the prior application when read in light of the specification clearly encompass and render obvious the claims of the instant application.

Claims 1-24 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 43-91 of copending Application No. 09/887,371. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the claims of the prior application when read in light of the specification clearly encompass and render obvious the claims of the instant application.

The prior application does not disclose that the separation occurs in a membrane based separation means, such as a membrane filtration. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the claims of the copending application, because the presently claimed invention recites the separation of the same types of materials from the same types of biological liquids and thus the same types of membranes must be used.

These are provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejections because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
